

It ought to be a democracy of the common people and not the “ruling elite”. The voice of the people is the voice of god. A wise leader understands the historical back and forth swing to the pendulum and seeks to minimize the damage change may bring to the social fabric of society.